

California School of Health Sciences

Code of Ethics

CSHS establishes broad goals that support the institution's mission. These goals guide CSHS' operation for admissions, finances, education and training, management, and student services

1. To provide programs of study that are educationally sound, up-to-date, of high quality, and demonstrably effective.
2. To publicly state and clearly demonstrate that the institution does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, or religion.
3. To maintain fair, ethical, and clearly stated advertising, admission, and enrollment practices by accurately and fairly representing the institution and its services to all people.
4. To provide effective student services that recognizes individual differences and ensure successful student retention, graduation, and employability where applicable.
5. To demonstrate the ultimate benefit of private educational training programs through satisfied students.
6. To ensure proper and ethical administration of all financial aspects of the institution.
7. To embrace voluntary self-regulation, this is inherent to the accreditation process.
8. To demonstrate a commitment to the people served by the institution through local community involvement and participation.
9. To demonstrate the effectiveness of private educational training, thereby providing essential skills to support a productive workforce.
10. To promote continuing education and training programs of the highest quality and integrity